

Jatheon Cloud for the Education Industry

The Challenge

Education IT leaders face significant challenges with data archiving, including compliance with FERPA and meeting tight deadlines for open data requests. Additionally, the use of social media and non-email channels for official communication complicates data management and requires robust solutions to capture and archive these diverse data sources effectively.

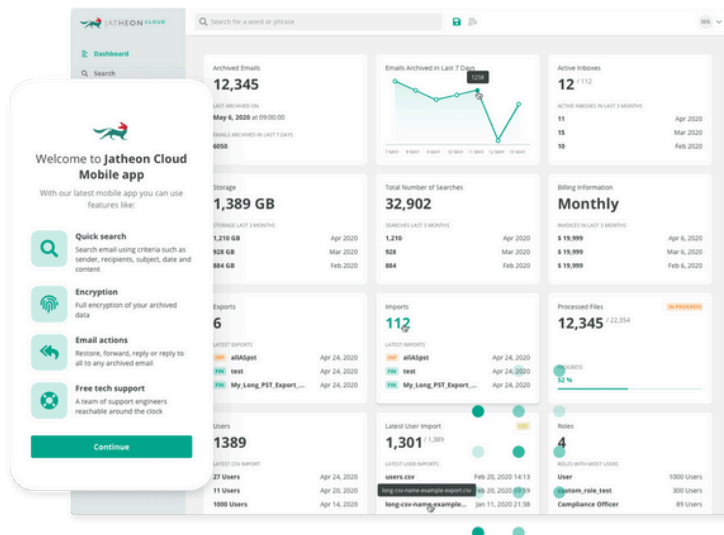

The complexity of maintaining compliance and protecting sensitive information demands a new approach, but it comes with another set of challenges. Integrating new systems with existing IT infrastructure often involves technical hurdles and resource allocation, which can be burdensome for districts with limited IT staff and budgets.

Product Overview

Jatheon helps K-12 districts stay aligned with FERPA and state laws with an all-in-one archiving solution to automate records retention, FOIA and Sunshine Law requests, supervision, and audit readiness across the widest array of use cases and communication channels.

Reduced Complexity and Streamlined Compliance

Jatheon helps to streamline FERPA compliance and enhance response times to open data requests. The advanced search feature is capable of scanning a million records in under a second, ensuring swift data retrieval. The platform supports fast and reliable exports, making it easier to manage and share information as needed. Additionally, Jatheon consolidates data from multiple content sources into a single, accessible system, simplifying compliance and operational efficiency.

Key Benefits

Jatheon offers a robust set of features to simplify compliance and legal obligations, while reducing overall costs and the IT footprint. Included in the most recent Gartner® and Radicati Archiving reports, Jatheon leads the education industry in keeping pace with evolving regulations and allowing schools to ensure privacy, security, and integrity of data.
